Russia's invading Red Army sweep on : Rendezvous with Germans in Poland this morning

'WE FIGHT ON' SAY POLES AT 1 a.m. Trapped army still defiant

'GOVERNMENT IN FLIGHT TO RUMANIA' REPORT

BLARING FROM EVERY GERMAN RADIO TRANSMITTER EARLY THIS MORNING CAME A SERIES OF REPORTS INTENDED TO SHATTER THE WILL TO RESISTANCE OF THE POLISH PEOPLE, ALREADY ROCKED BY THE THUNDERSTROKE OF RUSSIA'S DAWN INVASION.

"Warsaw has surrendered," was one report which was swiftly denied. "The Polish Cabinet have fled," was another.

The Polish official agency replied at 1 a.m. that the Government were still on Polish territory at Kutu (near the Rumanian frontier) and that Poland would fight on.

But other reports still declared that most of the Cabinet had left for Rumania as Kutu was in danger of being cut off by the Russians.

Germany returned to the attack with the announcement that 200 Polish planes had taken refuge at Cernauti airport in Rumania, that 400 cars had crossed over with members of the Polish Government and their luggage, and that the Polish Army were streaming into Rumania to be disarmed.

This was followed up by the first Soviet war communiqué—broadcast from Berlin at 2.15 a.m.

'RECEIVED WITH JUBILATION'

The communiqué claimed extensive advances all along Russia's 600-mile long western frontier from Latvia to Rumania, the occupation of dozens of Polish towns and the shooting down of ten Polish warplanes.

Only one sentence was omitted from the Nazi account of the Soviet communiqué. This said: "The Polish population are everywhere greeting the Red Army with jubilation."

It is reported from Riga (Latvia) that the German and Russian Armies have a rendezvous this morning. They are expected to meet in the north at Brest-Litovsk and in the south near Lwow. From the Soviet border to Brest-Litovsk is 150 miles.

Monster tanks formed the spearhead of the Soviet thrust. With the tanks came infantry forces—assault troop regiments picked from the 4,000,000 men Russia has mobilised in the last three weeks.

All over Russia last night mass meetings were called to support the Soviet Army's move in marching "to protect their blood-brothers, the Ukrainians and White Russians, after the collapse of the Polish Army."

Moscow radio said last night that several Red

Britain expected it

By GUY EDEN, Daily Express Political Correspondent.

THE Russians' invasion of Poland caused no surprise in London diplomatic quarters yesterday. Some such step had been anticipated for some time. It should not be assumed that the new move is necessarily to the disadvantage of the Allied cause. If, as is expected, the Russians advance until they have a common frontier with the Germans in Polish territory, it will be necessary for Hitler to maintain considerable forces there as a "precautionary measure." He will thus be forced to have an

All-Britain Register on Friday week

FRIDAY night, September 29, has been fixed for the taking of the National Register.

Particulars about every one of the 46,000,000 people in Great Britain and Northern Ireland will have to be entered on forms, and 65,000 officials will collect and exchange them for identity cards.

Every man, woman and child will be given a number. The register will be used as a basis for food rationing.

Details on Page Seven.

Submarine interned

STOCKHOLM, Sunday.—A damaged Polish submarine ran into Swedish territorial waters at Landsort this morning. She is to be disarmed and, with her crew, interned.—Exchange.

COPENHAGEN, Sunday.

A BOMB exploded at 7.45 last night on the doorstep of Goering's new 5,000-room Air Ministry, in Berlin's Oxford-street in the heart of the city, and only 100 yards from Hitler's Chancellery.

I.L.P. CONDEMN STALIN REGIME

The Independent Labour Party National Council at Leeds yesterday described Russia's invasion of Poland as: "The final stage in the departure by the Stalin regime from the principles of international Socialism and its adoption of purely imperialistic power politics."

Arrested Germans cheer our police

Cheers for Ramsgate police were given by eighteen Germans landed at Ramsgate on Friday when they left by motor coach yesterday for an unknown destination. They had slept at the police station, and were taken for meals under police escort to a restaurant on the sea front.

Paris bans car radio

PARIS, Sunday.—The fitting of radio sets to cars or motor-cycles is forbidden under an order issued by the Prefect of the Paris police today—"at the request of the military authorities." Sets already installed must be removed within forty-eight hours.—Reuter.

WESTERN FRONT DALADIER IN TRENCHES

Guns overlook Siegfried Line

From GEORGE MILLAR, Daily Express Staff Reporter
PARIS, Sunday.

THERE has been fierce fighting on the Western Front for the last twenty-four hours without a break. French troops not only held their positions against fierce German attacks, but made further advances.

M. Daladier, it was revealed tonight, has paid a thirty-hour visit to the front, during which he toured the lines in the Saar district and inspected trenches in positions won by the French in German territory.

The Germans launched two heavy counter-attacks this morning, one east of the Moselle valley and one near the centre of the French front between the Saar and the Vosges.

In both cases the attackers were beaten off.

OLD-FASHIONED

These attacks, like all the others, were signalled by heavy German shelling, as in the last war. French leaders consider these are old-fashioned tactics, like a boxer feinting with his left before punching with his right.

The French tactics are pincer-like. Troops move slowly at first, and are then rushed in, sheltered and supported by tanks.

Senegalese troops mixed with the poilus are proving superb in action. Soldiers are taking pillbox positions prepared by the Germans by creeping up the beds of rivulets and bombing and sniping.

The French captured in this way a high plateau where the rivers Saar and Nied converge. The plateau was a strategic position overlooking the German lines.

The French pincers advanced right to the edge of the plateau. The Germans pushed them with heavy shells and then an infantry attack was made, followed by tanks.

French engineers dug tank traps.

SIEGFRIED LINE SHELLED

Early this morning the French (according to a report from Paris) opened a bombardment of the Siegfried Line where it runs behind Saarbrücken. The bombardment was directed from the plateau captured yesterday. Outskirts of Saarbrücken are now under trench mortar fire.

BULLETS FIRED AT LOOSE BALLOON HIT HOUSES

Several houses in Ewell, Surrey were struck by machine gun bullets yesterday when a balloon that had escaped from its moorings was fired at from a plane in attempt to bring it down. People ran from homes in alarm as tiles were dislodged from four houses in Stane-way, Ewell.
